

Program Readiness & Participation Criteria

The National Aviation Hall of Fame (NAHF) is committed to providing inclusive and enriching educational experiences that inspire the next generation of aviation and aerospace leaders. To ensure a safe and successful program for all participants, the following Program Readiness & Participation Criteria (PRPC) outline the essential requirements for attending an NAHF program.

All participants must be able to meet the following expectations, with or without reasonable accommodations:

- Attend each day with curiosity, a positive attitude, and a willingness to engage in new experiences and challenges.
- Participate independently and collaboratively on projects, including set-up and clean-up, while treating materials and equipment with care.
- Function in stimulating environments that may include sounds, lights, movement, magnets, and active interactions with peers and facilitators.
- Follow instructions and safety guidelines in individual and group settings, often without one-on-one assistance.
- Demonstrate age-appropriate behavior and self-regulation, respond to changes in routine, and follow directions from program staff.
- Communicate needs clearly, including reporting injuries or requesting assistance.
- Refrain from physical or verbal aggression, unsafe behavior, or actions disruptive to others or themselves.
- Manage basic self-care independently, including hygiene, toileting, eating, hydration, and movement throughout the facility.

Please note: Our summer programs operate outside of the traditional school setting and do not have access to the same level of staffing or support services (such as nurses, special education aides, or paraprofessionals).

If a participant is unable to meet these criteria, NAHF reserves the right to withdraw the participant from the program to maintain a safe and productive learning environment. No refunds will be issued in such cases.

If you have questions or wish to discuss reasonable accommodations, please contact us at (937) 256-0944 ext. 16 or info@nationalaviation.org at least 4 weeks before your child's program start date to begin an interactive conversation. We will provide a health information form after this discussion. While we carefully consider all accommodation requests, we cannot guarantee approval, and some costs may be the responsibility of the parent/guardian.
